Vol. 11, No. 10 EDMONTON, ALBERTA, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 12, 1958 Section One—12 Pages

CAMPAIGN'S PROGRESS was discussed by Prime Minister John Diefenbaker with individual candidates during his visit to Edmonton last week-end. Among the nine Progressive Conservative federal candidates who had a chance for a chat was Jack Bigg, Athabasca constituency.

Early Foundation Is Needed For Good Education

The February meeting of the Lac la Biche Home and School Association was held in the Dr. Swift school with 44 members present.

The various chairmen gave reports on the activities of their committees.

To date the reports on the appeal for a district dentist have not been favorable, nevertheless the members of the executive are continuing their efforts.

Mrs. Coast gave an interesting reading on Founder's Day, observed each year in February.

Miss Welch, a primary grade teacher with 35 years experience, 14 of which have been in Lac la Biche, gave an enlightening talk on the importance of good education. She pointed out that one must have a good foundation in Grade 1 to acquire this.

She also stressed the fact that grades 1, 6, 9 and 12 were the most difficult. Work books were on display from grades 1-6. A film was shown entitled "The sociable 6 and the noisy 9" which was very true to life.

The Home and School members are very much in favor of a day being set aside for parents to visit the school room, which their children are attending.

The attendance banner was won by Mrs. Mastalger's grade 6 room with 17 points.

The Rev. R. S. H. Greene reported that only 4 persons attended the meeting regarding a music teacher. Another meeting may be held later.

Doughnuts and coffee were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Quality has everything in its favour including the price.

Casey Jones Next-To-Last Trip

By ISABEL WATT

Almost everybody has heard about the last trip of Casey Jones, the brave engineer. Very few people have heard about his next-to-last trip.

It is a story that railroad presidents did not want told. They were afraid that other engineers would try to do what Casey Jones did. And there was no use in trying, because nobody else could do what Casey Jones did.

The reason the story can be told to you is that you can keep a secret.

This happened the year the little St. Joe River flooded. It climbed out of its banks and covered the country six feet deep. The water did not go down.

After three months, some flood experts came to see what was wrong.

They decided that the only way to dry up the flood was to soak it up with blotters.

Then came the question of how to ship the blotters into the flooded country. The flood had weakened the only railroad bridge leading to it. The bridge would collapse any minute.

AMBROSE HOLOWACH

To Again Contest East Edmonton Seat

EDMONTON (BUP)—Social Crediter Ambrose Holowach who has held Edmonton East since 1953, has been named the Socred candidate to contest the federal urban riding again in the March election.

The 42-year-old manager of a city dry cleaning establishment declared that ever since confederation we have either Liberals or Conservatives in power in Ottawa, and alternating cycles of boom and bust. Both the old line parties sustain monetary policies which perpetuate our structure of debt. Holowach called for a new dynamic concept for Canada—"a concept of government built on good, solid, honest principles which will govern on a basis of economic realities.

Other candidates contesting the Edmonton East constituency include Tory service station operator William Skoreyko; Liberal lawyer John Bracco, CCF-er union man Peter Uganecz and William Tuomi, Alberta leader of the Labor Progressive (Communist) party.

Holowach only kept the seat by a few hundred votes. The runner-up was Liberal Mayor William Hawrelak in the June 10 election.

We still think that a good marketing system will make money for the farmer.

PRODUCTION Should Determine the Living Standard of the People.

Why does our LOWEST standard of living occur at a time of abundance?

Why is it that neither a Liberal or Conservative government has the courage to regulate our monetary policies so as to balance consumption with production.

GOVERNMENT SERVICES

know them better to serve you better

PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT GRANTS

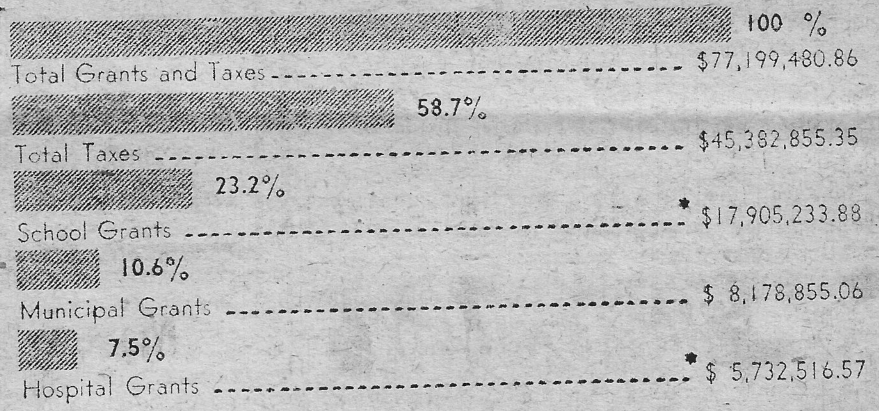
CITIES, TOWNS AND VILLAGES

Alberta's cities, towns and villages need money to provide diversified services for residents. This money is derived mainly from two sources—municipal taxes and Provincial Government Grants.

The 1956 municipal levy in cities, towns and villages in Alberta was $45,382,855.35 which, added to the Provincial Government Grant of $31,816,625.51 equalled a total of $77,199,480.06.

Provincial Government municipal grants are paid directly to the cities, towns and villages concerned.

School Grants are paid directly to the School Districts and Divisions and Hospital Grants are paid to hospital authorities.



* To express these grants in terms of their assistance to a municipality, school grants are pro-rated on an assessment basis. Hospital grants are pro-rated on a provincial per-capita basis. The resulting figures are therefore considered an approximation.

Provincial Government Grants to Alberta counties and municipal districts will be discussed in the next installment in this series.

Joe Corners Coy Coyote

While returning from Thorhild one night recently, Joe Strembiski had an interesting encounter with a coyote. The coyote got in the path of the car and was run over and presumably killed.

Joe picked up the animal and threw it in the trunk of the car and proceeded on his journey. Arriving home, he opened the trunk and to his astonishment and consternation, there was Mr. Coyote sitting up with a baleful look in his eye, ready to vacate his prison at a moment's notice. Hastily slamming down the lid of the trunk, Joe procured a rifle and drove out onto the Lake, where he finished off his coy captive in a decisive manner.

Hockey League News

Tallel Abougoush's Maple Leafs maintained their unbeaten streak in the Lac la Biche Junior Boys' Hockey League as they downed Danny Baglot's Rangers 2-0. Scoring was opened mid-way through the first period on a brilliant goal by Wilbert Whitford, his second of the season. Just before the first period ended Tallel rapped home another goal to make it 2-0. Hawks and Bruins battled to a 0-0 tie while in the third game Walter Konowalchuk's Wings downed Miles Graham's Canadiens 4-0, Ernie Thom and Walter Konowalchuk scoring two goals each. Earlier in the week Rangers defeated Bruins 2-0, Hawks tied Wings 1-1 and Leafs and Canadiens fought to a scoreless draw. Jimmy McCormick and Joe Cunningham have been doing a good job of patrolling the ice lanes.

The boys' hockey team from the Lac la Biche Mission paid a return visit to Lac la Biche after they had entertained the Lac la Biche team on the previous week.

The game featured a hat trick scored by the Mission's Morris Albas as Mission downed Lac la Biche by a 4-1 score. This week's Lac la Biche team were the Rangers led by Danny Baglot and strengthened by the forward line from the Red Wings which included Walter Konowalchuk, Ernie Thom and Donnie Varze. Rangers playing included Danny Baglot, Joe Brady and Steven Chernychyn on the forward line with Gregory Coast, James Chester and Glen Tremblay on defence and Jamel Abougoush in goal. Jamel, perhaps the smallest player on the ice turned in a very fine game despite the 4-1 score. Ironically, the fourth Mission goal was scored by Lac la Biche Ranger player Joe Brady who in dashing in to stop the puck, accidentally knocked it into the net. The lone Ranger tally was scored by forward Ernest Thom.

The Mission team was strengthened this week by the addition of Clement Girard, Jilles Schwab and Ned Caron. All of last week's players saw action with the exception of Regean Doucet. In the absence of Fr. Picotte, Fr. Levert drove the boys over from the Mission and looked after the manager's role. As with last week's game, this one too featured a high degree of good sportsmanship. Refereeing was looked after by Jimmie McCormick and Joe Cunningham.

Brood Sow Reminders

Preliminary reports for this winter's farrowing indicate losses up to 40%. Many sows will be starting to farrow early in March and litter losses can be cut by farmers giving a little extra attention to better feed and management now.

Alex Charnetski, Live Stock Supervisor for the Alberta Department of Agriculture says some sows on dry feed are getting very little or no water and that snow is a very poor substitute. It is also indicated in many cases that the protein level of the feed is far below minimum requirements. Recent experiments with over 300 brood sows have definitely shown that for best results sow feed should contain over 15% protein.

The use of alfalfa cannot be over emphasized. In some cases no green alfalfa or fish oil is being fed to the sows to supply the needed vitamin A and D. If alfalfa, just as it comes from the stack is not available, at least a daily tablespoon of fish oil should be given to each brood sow starting at least 2 months before farrowing time. In addition, feeding potassium iodide as recommended in the University Swine Bulletin will make a big difference in living ability of the new born pigs.

Reducing feed a few days before farrowing and continuing 2 or 3 days after farrowing is highly recommended. During this time, feed should be of a laxative nature. The farrowing quarters must be dry and reasonably warm, particularly at floor level, if best farrowing and after farrowing results are to be expected as suckling and weanling pigs cannot stand cold, damp and drafty, pen or barn conditions.

Students Note Ways Of Hog Raisers

GRASSLAND — Wanting to know how profit is made by the hog raiser, the local agriculture class departed by division bus Feb. 25 to visit three Athabasca farmers who raise swine for commercial sales.

The first farmer they visited was Charles Patry, who kept 10 sows and intends to add five more in the near future. His average litter per sow was 11.3 pigs. His herd, judged healthy and vigorous by the class, will be put to market at an appointed time. Patry said he feeds minerals year round, gives powdered iron to the baby pigs deworms, vaccinates for erysipelas uses alfalfa in the diet and takes the black teeth to prevent an accident.

Joe Bahre, the second farmer visited, keeps 15 sows now, and in the future expects to keep 20 pigs on his quarter section. His methods included feeding iron to the piglets after their third day, using creep feed system and starter for the young pigs. He hand feeds the sows and believes in allowing them much opportunity for exercise. To those pigs that must remain inside, he gives feeding oil as a substitute for sunshine. Lastly, he too believes in deworming. He attributed part of his success to the help of the district agriculturist, Mr. Galt.

Lunch was served to the stulents and accompanying parents by Mrs. Bahre after the examination of Mr. Bahre's herd.

Rudolph Dupilka, the third farmer visited, had a large set up. Milking from eight to 10 cows per lay, he fed his pigs skim milk, vith all other ingredients to balance the feeds and produce the 10 mino acids. He has all cement loors in his barn, sewage and heating systems.

Labor Minister Greeted By Mayor

EDMONTON (BUP) — Labor Minister Michael Starr, Canada's first federal cabinet minister of Ukrainian descent, was welcomed at the Edmonton municipal airport last week by another prominent Ukrainian-Canadian — Mayor William Hawrelak.

Also on hand were a group of Conservative supporters with banners welcoming Starr to the nation's oil capital. Starr shook hands with the mayor and Tory candidates for Edmonton East and Edmonton-Strathcona, William Skoreyko and Terry Nugent.

Forty-eight-year-old Starr was the first member of his race to become mayor of a Canadian city, Oshawa in 1948 Three years later he was elected to party and was appointed to his present cabinet post by Prime Minister John Diefenbaker last summer.

Off Key

The song writer was a guest at a party. He loaded himself with food and drink, and then began annoying the piano keys. When he finished, the host walked up to him.

"While you were playing," smiled the host, "I made a bet with a friend. What was the name of the song you just played?"

The song writer smiled proudly. "You've never heard it before," he boasted. "It's one of my new compositions."

The host nodded. "Then I win my bet," he said, happily. "My friend insisted the piano was out of tune!"

"Veto" comes from the Latin meaning "I forbid".

The Universe

Some idea of the immensity of the universe can be gained from this remarkable fact garnered from the Book of Knowledge: if the sun suddenly disappeared, we would not know it for eight minutes. The sun is 93,000,000 miles from the earth and it takes eight minutes for light to traverse that distance. But the distance between the earth and the really distant heavenly bodies is so immense that we see them now as they were days, years, or even centuries ago. Never are we able to see the heavens as thy are at the moment. The most distant heavenly object that can be seen with the naked eye is the Andromeda Galaxy, so far away that light takes 750,000 years to cross the space between it and the earth.

Alberta Wage Scale Up

In the past ten years average wages in Alberta have about doubled, reports the Alberta government. It predicts that if the pattern of the past decade continues, wages will rise by approximately $15.00 per week in the next five years. Average weekly wages in a number of top paying industries in 1957, with the 1947 figures in brackets, are as follows: oil mining $97.32 ($45.40); coal mining $54.20 ($45.46); manufacturing $69.70 ($35.19); petroleum and coal products $94.71 (45.64); construction $70.68 ($36.33); transportation, storage and communication $69.05 (42.63); industrial composite $67.87 ($37.19).

RETURNING DUCKS

One of the geat mysteries of nature, says the Book of Knowledge, is the ability of wild ducks to return to their home nesting places. One banded mallard returned seven years to nest in a box on top of a barn in Nebraska. Nearly all the ducks trapped and banded on their nests in Manitoba one summer returned to the same meadow the next year.

Carnival, derived from the Latin "carne vale", means "Farewell meat."

Claim Alberta Service Best

During the past 10 years more than quarter of a million blood transfusions have been given to hospital patients in Alberta, at no cost to the patient, through the Blood Transfusion Service provided by Red Cross.

"No province in Canada, and to the best of our knowledge no transfusion centres anywhere possess a more technically complete as well as free blood transfusion service than Alberta."

This unanimous opinion was expressed by Dr. D. R. Buchanan, Medical Director of the Edmonton B.T.S. depot and Dr. Eric Nation Red Cross medical director of the Calgary B.T.S. depot in their joint report on the Blood Transfusion Service for 1957.

The report showed that 54,027 bottles of blood were collected by Red Cross during the year representing collections of 25,391 bottles from northern Alberta points and 28,636 from centres in southern Alberta. More than 16,870 patients received transfusions from the year's collections.

Discovery of a rare blood type in a Canadian family of German origin, now residing in Edmonton, has already had far-reaching results with requests for technical details of the blood characteristics received from numerous countries throughout the world. Commenting on the discovery and the manuscript which was prepared as a result, Dr. Buchanan states in his report "The main value of such applied research is surely that any added knowledge tends to make transfusion therapy safer for a growing number of patients."

One way to have typhoid fever is to go on a vacation and drink water anywhere you find it.

WINTER WORK—Contractors are finding they can ensure winter employment and put building schedules forward by erecting a false wooden framework outside the skeleton of a building and wrapping the falsework in inexpensive polythene film. The film allows light to pass through it as no tarpaulin can, retains heat and protects workers from snow, sleet, rain and wind Construction schedule of this recovery furnace building in Cornwall, Ont., was advanced three months by Byers Construction Co., Ltd., of Montreal, contractors for Howard Smith Paper Mills Ltd., through use of the technique. The falsework was erected eight feet out from the building and 28,000 square feet of six-mil polythene film were stapled to it. A broad latticework of boards over the film protects it from damage. Heaters maintain the temperature above the 50 degrees generally accepted as the minimum for bricklaying.

The British In India

It was a hundred years ago this year that Queen Victoria proclaimed that the British government would take over the authority and responsibility in India that had for so long been held by the East India Company. In 1876 the Queen was named Empress of India. From that time, says the Book of Knowledge, British sovereigns were represented by Viceroys, the last of whom was Lord Mountbatten.

Community Club Postpones Election

ROCHFORT BRIDGE — Election of 1958 officers for Rochfort Ladies Community Club, formerly known as the Ladies Guild, will be at the March 20 meeting.

The election was postponed from the February meeting, at the home of Mrs. Andrew Shupac, as only six members were present. Four guests also attended. For March 20, members will meet at the home of Mrs. Mathews.

The financial statement was given. That members bring aprons for the March project was suggested. A motion was passed that $100 be given to the local branch of the Canadian Legion to help payment of work done on the recreation grounds. A contribution of $25 to the polio fund was also voted.

The Club planned to hold an Amateur's Night, March 28.

Province To Amend Legislation At Current Session Legislature

EDMONTON — Instead of revising the present Liquor Control Act the Alberta government will introduce three completely new bills at the current session of legislature.

The new measures will be embodied in a Liquor Control Act, a Liquor Licensing Act and a Liquor Plebiscite Act, the Hon. F. C. Colborne, minister without portfolio said this week.

Additional types of liquor outlets, subject to local option, were approved by 64 per cent of voters in a provincial liquor plebiscite last October.

Earlier this year, Mr. Colborne said the proposed changes would entail complete revision of the present Liquor Control Act, instead of piecemeal amendments. He said this proposal has been scrapped in favor of three distinct bills.

One new act would deal with all matters of liquor control. Another would cover issuance of permits and licences to present and any new liquor outlets, and the third—the Plebiscite Act—would allow for local option votes on liquor as well as any further plebiscite.

Shoppers Should Shop In Home Town

ALBERTA DIRECTOR of Industrial Development, Richard Martland, today urged residents in rural areas and in small towns to patronize their local merchants. Boards of Trade in the small centres have expressed concern over the numbers of people going into the large cities to buy merchandise. Mr. Martland said the local merchant has to pay taxes which help to build and improve facilities in the local centres. He said that doing business in one's own town keep the small industries going, creates additional employment and additional service. Mr. Martland also emphasized the buying of "Alberta made products" such as building materials, furniture and food stuffs.

Color Has Such Winning Ways

Sometimes we think the English language is most revealing. For example, take a phrase like "uncolored by emotion," or "the facts in black and white." The inference in both expressions is that color has such winning ways it can easily sway judgment in its favor.

Well, that's doubtless true—certainly when it comes to picture-taking, anyway! Haven't you noticed how color pictures bring back colorful moments and scenes with almost unbelievable realism? Color serves as a flag to memory . . . helps you remember every vital detail of a time and place.

That's why we feel color film can be such a sound investment for picture-takers—something not to be relegated only to special occasions, but to be used regularly and often for the extra dividend of pleasure it can bring you in all your picture-taking. No longer a luxury item limited to elaborate cameras, color film now comes in all standard roll film sizes to fit every type of camera that's currently on the market.

Basically, there are two kinds of color film—one designed for taking color snapshots, and the other created especially for making color slides. But the really big news today is for all you color-snapshot enthusiasts — and we think you'll be mighty pleased to hear it, too!

Now you can buy color film that may be used in daylight or with flash without the addition of filters or blue flash bulbs to compensate for the different light. This is the very first color film ever produced that you can load into your camera with nary a thought for whether you're going to snap pictures indoors or out, with flash or without.

Now—as never before—even the most casual snapshooter with the simplest of cameras can have this colorful world completely at his command.

Original Railroad Story Wins Donnelly Woman Grand Prize

Casey Jones stepped up to the president of his railroad and volunteered to take a trainload of blotters into the St. Joe country. The president did not want Casey Jones to go. He was the railroad's best engineer—but there was nothing else to do.

Casey Jones started out late at night, in his favorite engine, old Number Nine. Behind Number Nine rolled 50 flatcars. They were jampacked with the best blotters in the country.

Casey Jones opened the throttle of his engine and leaned out of the window. The track looked like two silver wires running through the night. Number Nine picked up speed. A long streamer of smoke whipped back from its smokestack like a black plume.

No other engineer could run an engine the way Casey Jones ran old Number Nine. It did not pound along like a machine pulling a heavy load. The train soared up hills like a bird winging its way into the sky. The train sped down valleys like a long sled on a perfect snow slide.

People who saw the train that night say that the wheels hardly touched the track. They merely showed the engine the direction in which to go.

Casey Jones pulled the whistle cord to make whistle music, as only he could. "Hoo-woo-hoo-woo, hoo-woo", sang the whistle.

For miles along the railroad, people rushed to their windows to see Number Nine flash by. They knew from the whistle music that Casey Jones was at the throttle.

At the last station before the St. Joe country, the fireman caught a message from the stationmaster.

"The bridge has fallen", he said to Casey Jones. "We might as well stop".

Casey Jones smiled and looked straight ahead.

"Throw in more coal", he said.

He opened the throttle as far as it would go.

Ahead was a 50-yard gap where the bridge had been.

Casey Jones patted the throttle handle. Number Nine sped on, like a thundering black arrow. The wind whistled past the engine windows. The fireman knelt in one corner and covered his eyes.

Casey Jones blew the whistle. "Hoo-woo, hoo-woo, hoo, hoo-woo", sang Number Nine, leaping the gap as easily as a mountain goat.

So great was Number Nine's strength and speed under Casey Jones' skilful hand that it drew every car across, like as many feathers on a string.

The train settled to the track on the other side of the gap and rushed on. It sped right into the middle of the St. Joe country.

In two days, the flood was blotted dry.

To show their thanks, the people took up a collection.

They bought Casey Jones a silver locomotive whistle half as big as a telephone pole.

Now everybody in the St. Joe country keeps a blotter handy.

There may be another flood, you see, but there will never be another Casey Jones.
